APPLY TODAY
to be a MARC Scholar!

The University of Maryland's Fischell Department of Bioengineering is now accepting applications for the second cohort of the Maximizing Access to Research Careers (MARC) program. The MARC program is an educational program designed to break down research barriers for students traditionally underrepresented in STEM.

MARC Scholar Supports

- Learn critical research and professional skills
- Gain extensive research experience in a biomedical project
- Build a scientific network
- Gain financial literacy advice
- Receive personalized mentoring for graduate school and your future career goals
- Receive a stipend and funds towards tuition

Applications Due: June 30th, 2024

Scan the QR code or visit: go.umd.edu/MARC to apply!

Contact Antoinette Waller, ajwaller@umd.edu, if you have any questions.